LABOR UNIONS THREATEN GENERAL WALK-OUT

SAYS U. S. MUST HELP IN WORLD REHABILITATION

American Participation in Discussions Inevitable is Word from the White House
HARDING TAKES STAND THAT TIME IS NOT RIPE FOR U. S. ACTION
But Nation Won't Stand Aloof When Advice is Needed
View of President

WASHINGTON, D. C.—American participation in the discussion of world rehabilitation problems is "inevitable" at some future time, it was said Saturday at the White House, although President Harding was reported as still feeling that the time had not yet come for the United States to take part in the economic discussion now proceeding abroad.
The president was represented as believing that the nations of Europe were making that world wide rehabilitation scheme open settlement of the international debt question, including reparations and it was declared by White House spokesmen that if the situation of Europe got to the point in their discussion of economic settlement where the advice and counsel of this country is needed, Americans will not stand aloof.
In the same quarter the president was represented as regarding with favor a proposal in some measure of trade relations between the United States and Russia. Businessmen in this country it was said, however, required assurance which the government was not yet in a position to give as a condition of participation in the rehabilitation of European resources.
While the internal negotiations were going on with reference to settling on American technical assistance to Russia to survey economic conditions and to be prepared by diplomatic means to be heard that a war of attrition to that end still had not begun.

BENTLEY STATEMENT SHOWS EXPENDITURE OF CLOSE TO $400

Expense Accounts Filed Saturday Indicate Candidate Kept Well Below Legal Limit

BLAINE COMMITTEE REPORTS DISBURSEMENTS OF $1,902

Morgan's Personal Account $645; Committee Reports Later

MADISON, Wis.—Senator La Follette's personal campaign committee filed a financial statement with the secretary of state Saturday showing expenditures of $3,572.44 in the interest of the La Follette candidacy for the republican United States senatorial nomination. The campaign committee of Attorney General Morgan through Stephen Belles, manager, filed an account of expenditures totalling $2,929.95 to promote Morgan's campaign for the republican gubernatorial nomination.

MADISON, Wis.—Expense accounts filed Saturday by candidates in the Wisconsin general election primary continued to show that the disbursements to further their nomination were far under the legal limit permitted by the state corrupt practices act.

The campaign committee of Governor J. J. Blaine filed an expense account of $1,902.43 with receipts of $2,542. The governor has not filed his personal account as yet. Attorney General William J. Morgan filed a personal account of $645. His committee has not yet filed.

Solomon Levitan, La Follette candidate for state treasurer, had a personal expense account of $1,319.77, while his opponent, State Treasurer Henry Johnson, had a total expense of $396.45, which he says paid for every stamp and envelope and all campaign literature in his campaign.

Bernard Elgren, La Follette candidate for attorney general, filed a personal account of $1,723.23, while his opponent, Fred R. Zimmerman, La Follette candidate for secretary of state, showed expenditures of $1,557.33. Lieutenant Governor Combs spent $1,025.25.

A. A. Bentley, democratic candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, spent $296.50, and his opponent for the nomination, Karl Mathie, spent $385.

Judge Henry Graas, republican candidate for congress in the Ninth district, filed an account which showed that he was owing $730.16 for his campaign, but he paid out nothing. John N. Weisby, congressional candidate in the Eighth district, showed expenditures of $1,067.

Miss Martha Riley, democratic candidate for congress in the Third district, expended $111.24 for her campaign, and Mrs. Theodora Yennius, republican candidate for the state senate in the Thirty-third district, spent $26.13.

FORMER LANESBORO MAN SUICIDES AT ROCHESTER, MINN.

LANESBORO, Minn.—Martin Ellergott, a former resident of this place who from here went out to Custer, Canada, upon a farm, recently leaped to his death from the highest platform of the fire escape of the Rochester, Minn., Central school building. He was seen to fall by a policeman who, rushing to him as he struck the ground, endeavored to aid him. Coroner Greve having been summoned, found that the unfortunate man had undoubtedly committed suicide as his health had been poor for some time and he said he had nothing for which to live. His brother, Helmer Ellergott, came with him to Rochester for treatment some days ago but it seems that little or no hope had been given the sick man. Upon the suicide's body was found a note written in the Norwegian language which said: "Please, what is the matter with my stomach?" The body was taken to Custer, Canada, where his father, Hans Ellergott, resides.

REGISTER AND VOTE ON PRIMARY DAY IS RULING OF STATE

MADISON, Wis.—Wisconsin electors may register on primary election day, September 5, and then vote in the primary on that day, R. M. Hoyt, deputy attorney general, ruled Saturday.

Mr. Hoyt advises the voters of the state that the election laws permit them to cast their ballot at the same time they register for the primary. He quoted an opinion given by Governor J. J. Blaine while attorney general, which said that "it is thought proper to emphasize the point that a person may register on the primary day and may after being registered vote at the primary. No warrant is found in the statute for the opinion here or less prevalent that a person can not both register and vote primary day. Once an elector is registered the law takes no note of the time which has elapsed since registration." The opinion said that "there is no intimation of any required lapse of time between registration and voting and the statutes seem to make it very clear that any person who is registered is entitled to vote."

MORGAN NOMINATION ASSURED CLAIM OF CAMPAIGN MANAGER

Declares Blaine Will be Far Behind La Follette in the Voting

MADISON, Wis.—The nomination of Attorney General William J. Morgan as republican candidate for governor of Wisconsin, was said to be a certainty Saturday by Stephen Belles, his campaign manager, in a personal statement.

"Attorney General Morgan was nominated by a majority of 32,070 in 1920 and he will have this or better in 1922 for governor," Mr. Belles said. "In the primary of that year he received 174,821 votes while Blaine received 113,001."

"There is no reason to believe that John J. Blaine has added a vote to his strength of that time. It is said in politics that the rail goes with the head, but Blaine will be far behind La Follette in the voting. The people have faith in Morgan. He has kept the faith. Blaine has lost the confidence of his own fellows. He has said he would do things he has not done."

COAL SHORTAGE OF 30 MILLION TONS CAUSED BY STRIKE

National Chamber of Commerce Report Shows Practically no Production Since April

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A shortage of 30,400,000 tons has been caused in the country's normal supply of anthracite, by the tie-up in that industry, according to estimates made by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Except for a few thousand tons which have been recovered each month by dredging, the bureau asserted, there has been "practically no production since April 1, 1922," to date, whereas a normal supply would represent a production of at least 6,000,000 a month.

CONFERENCE TO END STRIKE OF HARD COAL MINERS IMMINENT

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—Members of the policies committee of the anthracite coal operators met here Saturday to take final action on the proposal of United States Senators Pepper and Reed to end the long suspension in the hard coal industry. The operators committee of the United Mine Workers waited at their headquarters for developments, some of them expressing the opinion that a joint conference would be called soon by bringing about a quick end to the controversy.

WAS IT WETS OR DRY WHO CALLED MAYOR BONE DRY?

State Politics Bubbles With Effort to Run Down Last Minute Canard

DRY SAYS WETS DID IT; WETS BLAME DRY LEAGUE

Anti-Prohibition Association Comes Out for Bentley

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—R. P. Hutton, superintendent of the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon league, Saturday said that an error, inadvertently, was embodied in a circular sent out from his office, doing an injustice to A. A. Bentley of La Crosse, wet candidate for the gubernatorial nomination. The circular was printed from a copy of one issued by the Association Opposed to Prohibition, the reprint classifying Mr. Bentley as "absolutely bone dry" when it should have read "absolutely anti-dry." The original circular of the Association Opposed to Prohibition classified Karl Mathie, Bentley's opponent, as "bone dry" and the printer in re-setting the circular into type made the error, which Mr. Hutton says was extremely unfortunate and which he very much regrets.

JOHN ESCH ROBBED IN SLEEPER ON WAY TO CHICAGO

Word that John J. Esch, La Crosse member of the interstate commerce commission, was robbed of his pocketbook and money on a sleeper enroute from this city to Chicago, last Sunday night, was received by friends here.

When Mr. Esch awoke in the morning he found his pocketbook missing from his coat, which had hung on a rack inside his berth. The robbery was reported to the Pullman authorities.

John L. Hoffweber of La Crosse, who claimed to be on the same train, furnished Mr. Esch with sufficient funds in the morning to meet his current needs, and after cashing a check in Chicago the latter continued his journey to Washington.

PLAN RETALIATORY ACTION AGAINST GOVERNMENT FOR ENJOINING RAIL STRIKERS

FEDERAL OFFICIALS QUICK TO ACT UPON COURT INJUNCTION

Subpoenas Issued for Upwards of 250 Individuals Named in Government Petition

MARSHALS FAIL TO LOCATE JEWELL TO SERVE PAPERS

Reports of Violence Continue to be Received

CHICAGO, Ill.—By The Associated Press.—The government acted swiftly upon the heels of the injunction action Friday in which United States Attorney General Daugherty obtained a temporary injunction which prohibits the strikers from interfering in any way with the operations of the railroads.

Notice of the temporary enjoining order and the pending hearing September 11 in federal district court here, were served Friday night on John Scott, secretary-treasurer of the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor.

CAN'T FIND JEWELL

B. M. Jewell, head of the railway employees' department and acknowledged leader of the strike, could not be found by marshals and the belief prevailed that Mr. Jewell was seeking to evade service.

Five hundred subpoenas, or notice of the temporary order and hearing, were being printed Friday night. More than 250 individuals, officers and aids of leaders of the six shopmen's unions whose 500,000 members went on strike July 1, the railway employees' department and 120 system federation officials throughout the country, were named.

ENLIST DEPUTY MARSHALS

Some 5,500 United States deputy marshals throughout the country are ready to receive the subpoenas and serve them on local federation officers and other individual union leaders named in the injunction suit.

Fifty additional deputy marshals were sworn in at Chicago to aid in serving the notices upon the union leaders.

Union headquarters were working at the usual hour Saturday and with apparent activity. B. M. Jewell, it was said at the office, was out. One report that he had gone to Cleveland and was expected to meet train service brotherhood leaders, could not be confirmed.

CLAIMS NO BOOST IN LIVING

CHICAGO, Ill.—Documentary evidence intended to show that the cost of living had not increased sufficiently in the last three months to warrant any change in wages of maintenance of way employees was presented before the railroad labor board Saturday by Attorney Jacob Aaronson of the New York Central lines, representing eastern lines. Mr. Aaronson appeared in the place of John G. Waller, who was summoned to New York Friday.

Section laborers in the east are being paid 37.1 cents an hour compared to an average of 32.7 throughout the country.

"The average rate for July, 1922," declared the railroad spokesman, "is 123.5 per cent increase over the average hourly rate of 1915, leaving these classes of employees 23.7 per cent better off than they were in 1915 after making due allowance for the reduction in their wages on July 1."

Violence Continues

CHICAGO, Ill.—While rigid restrictions were placed by the injunction against the United States government Friday on a strike train, a nation-wide rail strike, reports of violence in connection with the walk-out continued to be received.

The last twenty-four hours however, developed fewer outrages than days immediately preceding.

Hill lights included the derailment of a Big Four passenger train at Brownsville, Ind., where a woman passenger was injured; bombing of the home of a railroad lawyer in a small town in Ohio; a plot to dynamite property of the Louisiana and Arkansas railway at Bentley, La., an attempt to derail a Big Four train at Cleveland, Ohio; the destruction of the Palmetto Limited on the Atlantic Coast Line, near Tampa, Fla., and an attempt to blow up a bridge over the Cuyahoga river in Ohio. The most disastrous occurrence was the wreck of a St. Louis and San Francisco passenger train at Cape Girardeau, Mo., with the loss of two lives and injuries to a number of passengers. The wreck occurred when the train crashed through a trestle.

POSTOFFICE HOLIDAY

The postoffice will be closed all day Monday. No deliveries will be made by carriers.

MEETING IS CALLED FOR SEPTEMBER 9

Conference of Labor Leaders to be Held Two Days Before Hearing on Federal Injunction

GOVERNMENT WILL GO FURTHER IF NEEDFUL DECLARE OFFICIALS

Prepared to Take Any Steps Necessary to Restoration of Normal Conditions

WASHINGTON, D. C.—American organized labor threatens a general strike in retaliation against the government for its course in obtaining a temporary injunction at Chicago Friday against interference with the railroads by the striking railroad shopmen and their union officials.

With President Harding acknowledging that the injunction is the most sweeping ever obtained in this country and expressing a determination not to stop at this if further steps are necessary to help maintain railroad transportation, the American Federation of Labor will consider the advisability of a general strike call.

Samuel Compers, president of the federation, denounced the government's course and declaring the injunction to be in violation of the law, announced Friday night that the federation executive council would meet in Washington Saturday, Sept. 9, to consider the question of a general strike.

Meet Two Days Before Hearing. The conference of American labor leaders will be held just two days before the day set by the federal court in Chicago for a hearing on the government's motion to make the temporary restraining order against the shopmen a permanent one.

U. S. Plans Further Action. WASHINGTON.—While awaiting evidence of the effect on the nation's crippled transportation facilities of the federal court injunction issued in Chicago yesterday against striking railroad shopmen, the federal government, administration spokesmen declared, was prepared Saturday to take any further steps and exercise any of its powers necessary to bring about a restoration of normal conditions. Just what direction such further action of the government, if found necessary, might take has not been revealed, but it was declared the restraining order did not represent the limit to which the government was prepared to go.

Labor to Ignore Order. Meantime, labor leaders here, viewing the injunction as an "outrageous" invasion of the strikers' rights, had declared their intention of ignoring the order so far as it might be construed as interfering with what they conceived to be legitimate efforts of the striking organizations and their friends to win the strike.

Mr. Johnston, representative president of the International Association of Machinists, one of the largest groups of rail strikers, declared the injunction would not cause the slightest abatement of efforts to win the strike, while Samuel Compers, president of the American Federation of Labor, asserted it was the federation's view that injunctions which "invaded constitutional rights" should be treated as "scraps of paper."

Refute Union Defense Fund. Mr. Compers declared that the American Federation of Labor would continue to raise funds and supplies in aid of railroad strikers regardless of the injunction, which he assailed as a "most outrageous thing," a process of the manufacture of the radicalism and bolshevism in this country. The injunction, he added, might stir up a "hottest" of the cabinet, setting a check to existing unrest.

The government's injunction suit was still the dominant subject of informal discussion among officials and members of the senate and house today, to a great majority of whom the action came as a complete surprise. Its discussion at a recent cabinet meeting is said to have developed a decided divergence of opinion as to its advisability with the president. It is understood in some quarters, at first taking the position with those opposed to it, for a time at least, but later changing his opinion with subsequent developments in the situation including the apparent breakdown of strike settlement efforts and increased instances of violence.

Demand General Strike. Though the American Federation of Labor has no power to call strikes, according to its constitution, it is reported that it is planning to do so.

Christmas prices cannot be forecast, according to the report, but an increase of 150 per cent in the price of German toys to take effect in the fall has been decided upon with further increases expected.

Militarism, the report added, has disappeared from the German toy industry and the army corps of lead soldiers formerly turned out by the Nuremberg factories have been superseded by tribes of American Indians.

KEEP COMMANDMENTS

You shall diligently keep the commandments of the Lord your God, and His statutes, and His statutes, which He hath commanded thee.—Deuteronomy 5: 17.

Flying Sailboats

Flying bicycles—motorless airplanes propelled by pedal—may be the next sensation in aviation. This is predicted by Glenn Curtiss, who, with the Wright brothers, pioneered the airplane. Curtiss says that the whole science of flying may be revolutionized by the recent gliding contests in Berlin. A glider is a flying machine without a motor. Most of the German gliders are monoplane. In the Berlin contest one glider remained in the air more than three hours.

Curtiss attaches great importance to the Berlin gliding successes because the real goal of aviators is to be able to fly like birds. The pilot of a glider is the closest approach yet to a "bird-man."

Everyone is asking: "What keeps the darned things afloat and what prevents their falling?" In a general way, a glider is a lot like a box-kite. The gliding machine, in leaving the ground and soaring into the air, takes off from a high place. A hillside is best, for air currents rising from the ground roll up a hillside like ocean waves up a cliff. Not as powerfully, but sufficient to lift the machine. The glider travels ahead on air currents. It is like a sailboat on water.

At first thought, it would seem that a gliding machine would have to flap its wings. Not so. It is like a gull, which glides in the air for hours with its wings practically motionless. The glider pilots are really air-sailors, adjusting the wings of their machines like changing the sails of a ship.

The big difficulty in airgliding is that air-currents change and as yet there is no way a flier can detect an air current until he is in it. Before man can fly like the bird he must develop an artificial substitute for the "air sense" that is part of the natural equipment of a bird. Flying without a motor, however, will always depend more on the skill of the pilot than on the machine itself.

Your Valuables

ARE you thinking of buying the Russian crown jewels, including the famous Orloff diamond? They are offered for sale by the Bolsheviks. The price? A trifling $500,000. The whole caboodle of them, piled out of their golden crowns and scepters, could be carried in your suitcase, and as far as being useful, the Russian crown jewels are about as valuable as a peck of broken glass. Their value is entirely imaginary—no more, no less than the imagination of man makes it.

Value is the most elusive thing on earth. It is the magician of economics. You think you have obtained a small value. Suddenly it swells to enormous size. This is increasing value. Henry Ford fell into its embrace and from a poor bicycle repairman became one of the three richest Americans. In the far corner are declining values—ones that are deceptive, look substantial and permanent at first, then shrink. Ask Wall Street plungers who have been caught in bear markets.

Value skips about like a flea. Big fortune comes to the man who can guess where it will jump next. Typical of this is real estate. Values are the poker chips of uncertainty. And, of all values, the only ones that have permanence approaching the perpetual are knowledge, fame and good deeds. These are the real wealth. No man is really poor who has created any of the three.

Home

RUFUS H. GRAY has lived in the same house for 73 years, in the heart of Boston. They "built to last" in those days. How many modern houses will hang together 73 years? You have heard of the new house that collapsed because they took down the scaffolding before putting on the wall paper.

Prices

SENATOR Capper tells about a certain make of bran, which wholesalers at $23 a ton and costs consumers $500 a ton when it reaches them in package form. The manufacturer would tell you that he has to get the price to cover the high costs of marketing. There is only one real problem in economics. That problem is distribution—shortening the gap between producer and consumer. The gap, however, steadily widens.

Hair

MARCEL, aged Frenchman, celebrates the fiftieth anniversary of his invention of the Marcel wave. Discover anything to magnify the beauty of woman, and you have a shortcut to fame and wealth. Marcel, once poor, is a millionaire. Come back to earth 1000 years from now and "Marcel wave" still will be part of the language. It's all for the best. The beauty of woman, in nature's scheme of things, is more important than science and engineering. Reproduction of life is nature's first concern. As a sideline, she lets us erect perishable building projects and invent false philosophies.

Army

THE regular army has been cut to an enlisted strength of 125,000. This is about 100,000 fewer than a year ago. Until Europe gets the same idea through its cement head, it will continue sinking deeper in the mire.

Engaged

By JESSIE DOUGLAS

"Well, Martha," Mrs. Kent said plaintively, "Mel dropped in to tell me he was engaged."

"Engaged!" Martha whispered. The color reddened her fine white skin, and then she was as white as a pear blossom. She held up her head very high and walked out of the room. But when she had crossed the threshold, and was sure she was out of her mother's sight, she reached up furtively and wiped away the tears that were brimming her eyes.

Engaged. To Della, of course—Della, with her bobbed hair and her swinging earrings and pretty painted lips and her naughty dark eyes. Martha had seen it all along; she knew that he only dropped in on the Kents' honeysuckle-shaded porch because it was so near by. She knew that it was the tinkle of her tea tray in tall glasses, and her mother's cream cake, that he enjoyed better than all her conversations.

Her mother had told her over and over again that she must talk and laugh the way Della did. But something in Martha's mind was a little respite wall across which she gazed at any young man with frightened, palpitant heart.

If the man were ever so old, or homely, or forsaken, Martha was charming. Her blue eyes danced, and the dimple in her chin came out, and she was all smiles. But that was just the trouble with Della. He was not old or homely or forsaken. All the girls in town were interested in him, and let him see it too. Sometimes Martha thought he chose their shadowy, fragrant porch because he liked to sit there and look here from eternal flirtation and the following glances of admiring eyes.

She couldn't talk to him. She could listen to him. She loved the sound of his deep voice with its velvet drawl. She loved to see him bend over his cigarette in the darkness, while the lighted match showed her his clear-cut features—the boyish mouth, the straight nose, the teasing, laughing eyes she loved.

Loved. She came to that word and her heart seemed to drop away. She couldn't go on to him, but she could go on to Della. With her provocative glances and her cigarette-stained fingers, claimed him. Martha could almost fancy Della was laughing at her secretly all this time, and calling her "poor old maid" for that was what her mother spoke of as she said: "You're an old maid, Martha, with your stiff ways; that's not the way to treat men. Look at Della!"

Oh, yes, her mother was right; but now, at least, she wouldn't spend any more of those times in which she told herself that she would try to copy Della. She could just go on being herself, and not letting any one know that her heart was breaking under her pale organdy frock.

Yet she remembered how she had stolen up to her own room at night and had peered in at her face with the dim light of her candle, and how she had and at the shining hair that she unwound from the banded coils about her head, and thought he might grow to love her.

She wasn't the kind of girl who could laugh and play and ease, like the other girls. She was horribly old-fashioned and she knew it.

Sometimes Martha had slipped to her knees and said a very short, very childish prayer, but after it was over and she lay in her narrow white bed, she could almost believe that Mel Hall would come to care for her sometime. Yet every word that her mother said was true, she was just like a little frozen statue of a girl, a picture of a girl when Mel dropped in at the Kents' shady porch and smoked a cigarette for a moment before he swung on down the street.

And now he was engaged. All her tiny hopes were frustrated and Martha knew that now nothing mattered; that she could settle back and be an old maid in peace and even endure in silence the daily iteration of her mother's plaint.

Now she walked down the porch steps and down the street with the awful blue lips that she was taking crimson pills.

Here she was calmly going on about her errand as though her heart wasn't breaking within her!

"B. Martha," She lifted her head from the even squares of her movement, to see that Mel Hall was waving to her. All at once she knew she wasn't afraid of him any more. He belonged to the inhibiting men who are almost as easy to talk to as women.

THE LIVERY MAN EXPECTS TO GET ALL HIS HORSES BACK TO NORMAL AGAIN SINCE AUNT ELLA HAS TAKEN UP RIDING.

"I want to congratulate you!" Martha said quietly. "Thanks," he said briefly, and rather shyly. "You know I was just looking at this house on the old Saunders place—it's to let—and wondering what could be done with it."

"I love old houses; let me explore it with you," Martha said calmly. She knew very well he was looking at it for Della Summers, but she didn't care. She did like old houses, and always planned how she would paint and paper and hang curtains.

Mel thrust up a window and pulled Martha in after him. She came in tumbling and rose checked and laughing with feigned gaiety when she saw the blackness of his hands and her own dirty marks.

"Take the living room?" he asked suddenly. "Why, it's darling! You can paint the woodwork ivory white and put up orange curtains and get that lovely old mahogany down at Henderson's. Here's a hearth and space between the windows for bookshelves," she rambled on delightedly, until she saw him watching her, and remembered, with horrified dismay, that it was his house and Della she was planning.

"Go on," he said. "Do the dining room," as they strolled into the long bay-windowed room.

"It's your turn," she said.

He told her that he'd like it in blue; she always wanted a dining room in blue, but would she like it?

"Do you mean would Della like it?" Martha asked, drawing back.

SAMMY CRADEN

Sammy Craden of Milwaukee who will meet Tommy Taylor, Rochester, N. Y., in the tea round wind-up bout at the American Legion boxing show here on Labor Day. Craden recently won a decision over Frankie Schmalzer in Milwaukee. Frankie has the reputation of handing a knockout to Earl McArthur, one of the fastest in the game.

FIGHTERS IN TRIM FOR BIG AMERICAN LEGION BOXING EXHIBITION ON LABOR DAY

Sammy Craden, Milwaukee featherweight, sprung a surprise on the boxing fans of the Cream city when he defeated Frankie Schmalzer of the same city in the semi-final to the Joe Dawson-Clonie Tait match at Milwaukee auditorium. In the second round Craden floored Schmalzer for the count of seven, the bell sounding as Frankie started to get up. Craden showed a strong left hand that sent Schmalzer staggering back several times. Frankie tried hard to turn the tide in the fifth, but failed. The sturdy Craden met him at every turn and won the decision by a good margin. Craden has lost but one fight in twenty-four matches, that one being to Joey Sanger, who recently gave Stewart McClean such a hard battle.

Craden will continue his training as he fights Tommy Taylor of Rochester, N. Y., at La Crosse on Labor Day. Taylor is a classy little boxer, but he will be facing a hard hitter in Craden. Sammy is so confident that he can go into the junior lightweight class that he has offered to take on Joe Dawson, providing the latter will make 130 pounds for him.

Craden and Taylor will arrive in La Crosse about 5 o'clock Saturday evening. They were due to get here on Friday, but were delayed in starting from Milwaukee. They will work out in Safford's pool room on North Third street on Sunday.

Jimmy Gill went seven fast rounds Friday afternoon in his workout with his sparring partners and manager. Jimmy is shifty and a hard fighter. He can take a lot of punishment, and his battle with George Grover should show the fans some real mixing. Grover makes up in reach and punch what he lacks in ring experience.

Charles Levine, who is matched to appear against Jimmy Van of La Crosse is one of the cornerers in the featherweight class. He has built up a good reputation for himself around Milwaukee by his work in the amateur ring, and though this is his first year of professional fighting, he has met with few setbacks.

Van did a lot of boxing under the navy colors when he was in the service. He has a record of 62 victories in bouts on the shores of sunny France, being defeated but once in 63 encounters.

Billy Becker, who showed the way to George Meade of La Crosse at Hokah a short time ago, will be pitted against Joe Burns of La Crosse in one of the four round preliminary bouts. These two scrappers will weigh in at 133 pounds. A hard fight is expected as the men are evenly matched and seem to stack up about the same. Burns has been in the ring since 1916 and has met some of the

Although the Cloisters lost Sunday's game to the Eatwells, they have the edge in the series, two games to the Eatwells' one. Feyen batted well for the Shirvins, striking out seven and allowing but two hits. Abegdon allowed six hits, one a home run by Webber, with two men on, and struck out four men. AMERICA PINNING FAITH ON RICHARDS AND TILDEN TODAY

U. S. Needs But One More Victory to Clinch Possession of Davis Cup Again

FOREST HILLS, N. Y.—Needling but one more victory to clinch possession of the Davis cup and with it the world lawn tennis supremacy for another year, the United States pinned its faith Saturday on Wm. T. Tilden and Vincent Richards, national champions in the doubles match with Gerald L. Patterson and Pat O'Hara Wood of the challenging Australians.

Patterson lost to Tilden and J. O. Anderson to William M. Johnston Friday in straight sets and the Australians were determined to make a "last ditch" stand against the defenders. Victory for the Australians Saturday would make it necessary for America to capture at least one of the remaining single matches scheduled Monday in which Anderson and Tilden and Patterson and Johnston are paired.

RUTH DRAWS 3 DAY SUSPENSION—FINE

CHICAGO, Ill.—Babe Ruth of the New York Yankees was suspended for the third time this season by President Johnson of the American league on Friday. The suspension is for three days. He will be eligible to return to the game Labor day.

All of Ruth's previous suspensions have been the result of the fights he has had with umpires and the language he used in protesting their decisions. President Johnson said, Friday's suspension also carries a fine, but President Johnson declined to reveal the amount.

BASEBALL BRIEFS

The White Sox took fourth place from Cleveland by defeating the Indians 2 to 0 in a five inning affair while Rommel, Mack's twirling ace, chased up his 21st victory of the season by defeating Boston 4 to 3 in eleven innings.

The Boston Braves took their second straight double header from Philadelphia and climbed to within a game of seventh place.

The Giants had their lead over Chicago cut to five games as the Cubs took advantage of Cincinnati's errors and bagged a 7 to 4 victory. The other National league contenders, St. Louis and Pittsburgh, divided a double header in which heavy hitting predominated. Reb Russell of the Pirates, led the sluggers with seven hits, including three home runs which brought his season's total to twelve.

While the Yankees were idle, the St. Louis Browns gained a half game on the leaders and cut the margin separating them from the top to two games by defeating Cobb's skidding Tigers 4 to 1.

AT THE MAJESTIC

Never in the 25-year history of the Motion Picture as a form of entertainment has such a marvelous popular reception of a picture been witnessed as in the case of the presentation of Arrow Film Corporation's "Ten Nights in a Barroom." Although hardly four weeks have passed since it was first publicly presented, the reception of this picture in such great cities as Boston, Newark, N. J., Reading, Pa., Toronto, Canada, Philadelphia, Pa., Utica, N. Y., Providence, R. I., Woonsocket, Rhode Island, Lawrence, Mass., has been greater than that hitherto accorded to any motion picture drama. The picture is a severe test of the box office value of the motion picture, to start its presentation in the depth of winter in what are known as some of the coldest show towns in the Eastern part of these United States.

To some extent if the public of these cities turns out in their thousands in the depth of winter to crowd the sidewalks, to jam box offices and fill the theater day after day, and week after week, there must be some marvelous quality to the picture. In this case it does heartily interest, a good story, good acting and the Arrow Film Corporation's unexcelled exploitation resources. This great picture, closes at the Majestic tonight.

RIVIERA TODAY ONLY

A thrilling story of the west, "Moonshine Valley" with William Farnum as the star, will come to the Riviera Theater tonight.

In "Moonshine Valley" he has a beautiful background for his work—most of the scenes in the play are laid in the western foothills.

Sadie Mullen, a new comer to the screen is Farnum's leading lady. He is also supported by another new-comer, Dawn O'Day, three years old. This youngster is said to be one of the cleverest children appearing on the screen.

AT THE RIVOLI

Do you believe in the creed which says that in order to make money, you must first make a show of wealth in order to attract wealth? It is indeed a strange creed and whether you believe in it or not, you should see the way in which it tangled three lives in Gloria Swanson's latest Paramount picture, now showing at the Rivoli Theater. The title is "Her Husband's Trademark."

STRAND TODAY

Paul Wegener, who played "The Golem" in addition to directing that fantastic legend which was received as one of the most extraordinary pictures of last year, has created a colorful new role as the Ethiopian king in "The Loves of Pharaoh," which comes to the Strand theater today.

Fox has made into a super photo-drama and which will be seen at Riviera Theater beginning next Monday.

LA FOLLETTE DEFENDS WAR RECORD IN TALK FRIDAY AT KENOSHA

Would Take Same Stand if He Had it to do Over, Senator Declares

KENOSHA, Wis.—Defending his war record, Senator Robert M. La Follette, resumed his political fight for re-election to the senate here on Friday when he addressed two thousand at the Coliseum, receiving a typical "La Follette ovation," as he entered the hall. "I would trade places with no man either in the United States or in France so far as my war record is concerned," declared the senator. "I was not in favor of the war and I would like to know what benefit came from it." He branded the war a commercial war and one fought for the capitalists. He declared he would take the same stand if he had it to do over again. The remainder of his address was given over to deprecating wealth and monopolies and to a brief discussion of state issues, urging the re-election of Governor Blaine. No mention was made as to his stand on the war and dry issue. It was the first address which he has made since he was called to Washington to vote on the soldier bonus measure.

and Louisville and Nashville train men were taking strike action at Louisville, following alleged insults by guards. The Baltimore and Ohio announced a meeting of twenty-three passenger trains September 4. Coal mines in the southern Illinois fields were closed because of coal shortage. It was reported that half the mines in Williamson county were shut down. C. H. Markham, president of the Illinois Central, announced that conditions on that road had improved to such an extent that the Pullman cars shops were employing more men than before the strike began and that there would soon be no more jobs for returned strikers. Department of justice operatives declared that a nation-wide raid on radicals was contemplated as a result of disclosures and arrests in Chicago in connection with alleged week plots. Blackburn Easterline, assistant secretary general of the United States, who appeared with Attorney General H. M. Daugherty and District Attorney Charles E. Clegg in District Judge Wilkerson's court Friday when the temporary restraining order was granted, was conferring here Saturday with local federal officials in connection with enforcement of the injunction. The entire department of justice was in active operation and while no arrests had been made and no violations of the injunction had been reported, extreme watchfulness was being maintained against further violence or other actions that would be violation of the court's order.

MEETING IS CALLED FOR SEPTEMBER 9

According to its president, Samuel Gompers, its executive council next Saturday will be asked to review appeals and demand from "hundreds of local unions" for the institution of a general strike to support the fight of railroad union on strike. "These appeals have come to me from all over the country, from those who imagine that I have power, or that the federation has power to call a general strike," Mr. Gompers said. "They have been in the form of resolutions passed by trade union councils or by local unions, or officials in labor periodicals. The executive council will be asked to consider them, although it cannot take action to call a strike. The resolutions and demands, Mr. Gompers declared, indicated a state of mind in labor circles more inflamed than ever before and he considered them important to that extent. It was said that most of them came to federation quarters before the federal court restraining order was issued yesterday in Chicago.

INDIAN FORECASTER
PREDICTS SOFT WINTER
SELKIRK, Man.—An open fall with no cold weather until late in December was predicted Friday by Harry Urquhart, a grandson of the great Indian chief Tecumseh. He based his opinion principally on the stars and declared the dipper is exceptionally slow in moving this season. This fact, he stated, is an unfailing sign of a long continuance of warm weather.

ORLANDO NELSON IS SLIGHTLY IMPROVED AT HOSPITAL HERE

Orlando Nelson, who was brushed off the Burlington trestle by a locomotive Thursday night, sustaining a fractured skull and a broken ankle, is slightly improved at St. Francis hospital Saturday, according to a report from there.

Nelson was rendered unconscious by the fall, in which condition he remained all day Friday. He had partially regained consciousness on Saturday. The accident occurred about 11:15 Thursday night. Chief Webster learned Friday afternoon that there was an eye-witness of the accident. Police have been unable to locate him as yet. It was reported that Nelson was accompanied by another man, who negotiated the bridge safely ahead of the locomotive. Police were puzzled over the fact that he did not come to the aid of Nelson, after the latter had fallen.

CALLS NEW WEBSTER DICTIONARY PIECE OF BRITISH PROPAGANDA

BOSTON, Mass.—Alleging that it contains matter "as British as London bridges," Councilman James A. (Jerry) Watson of Boston has called upon the trustees of the Boston public library to remove from the shelves of that institution the last edition of Webster's dictionary. The attack on the dictionary is based on its definition of the word "Constitution," which is as follows: "The principal or fundamental laws which govern a state or other organized bodies of men, and are implied in the institutions and customs of the country or society." In previous editions, specific reference had been made to the constitution of the United States.

WHAT THEY SAY FROM THE STUMP

30,000 MORGAN PLURALITY CLAIMED
MADISON, Wis.—That W. J. Morgan will be elected Governor by over 30,000 plurality was the statement of Stephen Bolles, Morgan's campaign manager on Saturday. "Morgan will be nominated for governor by a good or better majority as in the 1920 campaign when he received a majority of 32,070 in the primary," said Mr. Bolles on Saturday. "The people have faith in Morgan, he has delivered the goods. He has kept the faith. Governor Blaine has lost the confidence of his own fellows. The non-partisan league doesn't know whether he is against them or for them. He has not the claim to socialist support so freely given La Follette. An article by Victor Berger in Thursday's Milwaukee Ledger is indicative of the whole situation. Berger says that Blaine is two faced, that he is a day, and that the Leader supports La Follette not because he is a republican, but because he is not a republican in speeches, articles and votes. "The people of Wisconsin are not deceived. They will vote for some one who neither dodges, quibbles, nor carries water on both shoulders. That is the reason Bill Morgan will be nominated."

BLAINE RECORD MAINLY TALK
MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Wm. J. Morgan in an address here declares that Blaine makes speeches against evil things but that he himself has been active in trying to correct evils. "Mr. Blaine tells you that tax dodgers are violating the law and cheating the state out of taxes," Morgan said. "If you believe him, don't you think you had better elect me so I can prosecute tax-dodgers too? I can't do that as attorney general unless I am ordered to do so by the governor and so far he has done nothing but say what horrid creatures they are. But if I am governor, I will prosecute any corporation or other tax-payer I can find deliberately falsifying income tax returns and cheating the state."

"Your experience with Mr. Blaine and with Morgan shows you that Blaine makes speeches against evil things and Morgan prosecutes them. If you want speeches and no action Blaine is your man. But if you want more work and less talk, don't you think you had better vote for me?"
MADISON, Wis.—That over $12,500 has been collected for the relief of the tornado sufferers of North western Wisconsin was the announcement made at the executive office on Saturday. These funds have been collected by a committee appointed by the governor. The exact amount collected to date is $12,665.

BOB AND BLAINE ANNOUNCE SUCCESS
MADISON, Wis.—Statements were issued Saturday by Senator La Follette and Governor Blaine predicting victory for themselves in the primary election, Tuesday, September 5. The two candidates referred to the alleged expenditures of their opponents to bring defeat of the La Follette forces linking expenditures of their opponents with taxes said by Governor Blaine to have been withheld by corporations.

Statements of the Senator and of Governor Blaine follow: "The voters of Wisconsin are too intelligent to be rushed by the barefaced campaign of the tax-dodging corporations," Senator La Follette said. "The overwhelming number of our people pay their taxes in full. They are not going to support a few tax-dodgers who are now trying frontally to defeat Governor Blaine and other progressives. I predict that when the votes are counted we will have an old time victory for honest government in state and nation."

"The overshadowing issue in this campaign has been the honest taxpayer against the tax dodgers," Governor Blaine said. "The amount of tax dodging by a couple thousand corporations is such as to stagger the honest citizen. To escape payment of their just taxes these dishonest corporations have financed the opposition to the extent of hundreds of thousands of dollars. This is evidenced by advertising, circulars and bill posting within the last week amounting to at least one hundred thousand dollars. These corporations have brought to their aid various leagues and associations with false faces and false pretences."

"I am depending on the solid, sensible citizens of the state, who are tired of the tax dodging against me. I am convinced that I will win by a gratifying majority as will the other progressives on the ticket."

EKERN IS UNDER FIRE
Senator George L. Buck of Racine Saturday, in the interest of the candidacy of John E. Baker for attorney general, told of the activity of his opponent, Herman L. Ekern, before the legislative committee which drafted the teachers' retirement fund bill.

"I can say that Mr. Baker is the logical man for the place because I know something of his opponent, Herman Ekern, whom Senator La Follette has brought back from Chicago to run for the office," Mr. Buck said. "I was a member of the special committee appointed to draft the new teachers' retirement fund bill. At a meeting of the committee in Madison it was learned that Ekern was in the city and he was invited to talk the matter over."

"He said he was glad to sit with the committee as he was in Madison anyway on some other insurance lobbying work. He helped the committee a while on the preparation of the bill, sat with us in our sessions and we presumed he was doing gratis work, and you can imagine our surprise when he presented a bill for his services charging at the rate of $100 a day. The whole bill was something like $10,000 or $12,000, but it was not allowed at anything like that figure."

BLAINE LEGISLATES "GOOD" LEGISLATURE
BLOOMINGTON, Wis.—Governor Blaine urged the election of a legislature favorable to the La Follette progressive wing of the republican party in one of his closing campaign addresses given here Saturday. He said that he had during his campaign spoken in nearly every assembly and senatorial district of the state, advocating the nomination of progressive republicans.

"With the legislature in 1921 organized against me it was with the greatest difficulty that any constructive legislation could be put through," Governor Blaine said. "The governor cannot pass laws. That is the function of the legislature. Therefore, it was impossible for your governor to put through any constructive program of economy or any equalization of the tax burdens, and the best I could do was to veto bills, so far as legislation is concerned, and I vetoed 50 bills, saving to the taxpayers of this state, presently and in the future, millions of dollars."

"As I close the campaign, I state again," the governor said, "as I have repeatedly stated, that I stand upon my record of achievements in seeking re-nomination for the second term."

PAULSEN HOLDS WAR REAL ISSUE
DEERFIELD, Wis.—The war will not be ended so far as Wisconsin is concerned until the people have declared themselves at the coming primary as satisfied that the conflict was one of justice against the foes of democracy," Martin R. Paulsen, soldier candidate for secretary of state, said in a talk here Saturday.

"The people of Wisconsin owe it a sacred duty toward those who gave their lives in France, toward the families who are still grieving over their bereavements, toward the men who still carry the scars of warfare, toward all who labored and sacrificed to bring us victory in the cause of justice and democracy—the people of Wisconsin, I say, owe it to them, and to themselves as Americans, to vindicate their loyalty during the war, by casting their ballots in the coming primary election for the men who proved themselves loyal Americans during the war against those who would rob us of our right to be called loyal citizens of the United States."

"Wisconsin is on trial before her sister states and before the world."

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET
NEW YORK—Absence of many traders from the floor resulted in relatively light dealings at the opening of Saturday's stock market. Prices within narrow limits. Rails shares were slightly depressed in response to talk of a general strike as a result of the government's sweeping injunction in the railroad strike situation. Losses of large fractions took place in Reading, Pullman, Northern, and Illinois Central. "So" and New Haven. Oils were in fairly good demand. Mexican Petroleum advanced a point with gains being shown by producers and refiners and Barnsdall. Gains of a point also were recorded by International Paper, National Lead, and Consolidated Talc. Considerable irregularity developed in the day's brief and dull session of the stock market, oils, equipment, and being fragrant showing a reactionary tendency while chemicals, tobacco, motors and several specialties moved to higher ground. A high record for resistance to talk of a general strike. Reading and New Haven reacting a point each but the other active issues showed no movement. In the afternoon, Mexican Petroleum after an early show of strength, dropped 2 1/2 points, closing at 100.00. The close was steady. NEW FLAPPER BOOTS--SKY-WRITING WITH INK-SMOKE--HERE'S MME. TROTSKY AND KING ALFONSO

AN IRISH SOLDIER "DISARMED"—After the heavy fighting in County Cork one of the Free State soldiers "presented arms" to two fair damsels and did an about face.

WRITING IN THE SKY—Major J. C. Savage uses the sky over London as a billboard, writing his advertisements with smoke projected from an airplane. Words are written in the reverse so that those below may read from left to right. Letters are often 1000 feet deep. Here the pilot is inscribing "Sky Writing."

BYE, GOLOSSES!—Here's the way the flapper will look next winter. Notice that the rubber gaiter, or bootie, fur-topped, has replaced the well-known gosh, original insignia of the flapper.

KING ALPHONSO TAKES A REST—King Alfonso of Spain just after a game of polo at Deauville, France, where he went to take a rest. Incidentally he made a few remarks about the ugliness of American women's arms while there. Wonder what's in the glass the attendant is holding for his majesty.

He was kept locked in a dark room for four years according to officers, who found him in an East Side garret.

WATCH OUT!—Underneath the letter "Z" on this typewriter is hidden a small but powerful dictaphone. London detectives are using them to listen in on office conversations. So are divorce sleuths.

THE RIDDLE IS SOLVED—"How do they keep 'em up with that little strap?" Men have often asked that, referring to evening gowns. Eleanor Boardman reveals the secret in this picture. She is having her gown pasted on.
